Favourite Jokes and Puzzles for the Family Jul 22 2019 This book is a compilation of some of the world's favourite jokes and puzzles told over decades and centuries. There are French jokes, English tales and contributions from America. The puzzles and card tricks are amusing and entertaining. The reader will be amazed as to how easy the puzzles and the card tricks are. They are as simple to solve as the egg of Christopher Columbus. The great man demonstrated how to stand a raw egg on its small end by cracking the shell at the small end then standing the egg on the cracked part of the shell. He explained: "It's easy, but you need to think of it first." The author's birthplace, Mauritius, has a multilingual society. Most Mauritians speak English, French and patois (a broken French), as well as Hindi, Chinese and other languages. Mauritian humour is mixed, and it is this mix that the compiler hopes to have achieved in Favourite Jokes and Puzzles for the Family.

Asian Punches Mar 10 2021 This book deals with Punches and Punch-like magazines in 19th and 20th century Asia, covering an area from Egypt and the Ottoman Empire in the West via British India up to China and Japan in the East. It traces an alternative and largely unacknowledged side of the history of this popular British periodical, and simultaneously casts a wide-reaching comparative glance on the genesis of satirical journalism in various Asian countries. Demonstrating the spread of both textual and visual satire, it is an apt demonstration of the transcultural trajectory of a format intimately linked to media-bound public spheres evolving in the period concerned.
